

Biden Just Made His Worst Gaffe Yet – But the Crowd’s Reaction Will Shock You

By Mick Farthing
January 26, 2024

Democrats seem to believe Joe Biden is the best candidate for president in 2024. Americans don’t seem to agree, given his consistently low approval numbers. Many have questioned Biden’s competency for the job, after three years of inflation, rising crime, and global problems.

But there is another big issue that is concerning many Americans. One that seems Democrats refuse to acknowledge at all. Once again, though, Biden exhibited traits that could put other men his age into a nursing home. And, once again, this happened while the cameras were rolling. What’s really shocking, though, is how the crowd responded.

From Fox News:

Biden gave his speech at Earth Rider Brewery in Superior, Wisconsin, where he touted his economic record – aka “Bidenomics” – and the success of his bipartisan infrastructure legislation in a bid to shore up support for his 2024 re-election bid...

Partway through his remarks, he appeared to mumble, “The beer brewed here, it is used to make the brew beered here.” While most of the sentence was unintelligible, he seemed to add, “Ooh, Earth Rider, thanks for the Great Lakes. I wonder why...”

While speaking at a campaign event at a brewery in Wisconsin, Biden once again fumbled with his words. This gaffe appears to be one of his worst yet, in a long history of embarrassing and troubling gaffes. The Democrat began to mumble. It appears as if he lost his train of thought. He struggled to speak. He repeated himself several times. Finally, it seemed apparent that he derailed. This comes just days after he called the failed Democrat gubernatorial candidate in Virginia, the “real governor.”

Any observer would be worried about how the president’s possible cognitive issues. Yet the audience at this event seemed to ignore the troubling moment. They could be heard laughing, as Biden failed to finish a complete thought. It’s unclear why the audience of Biden supporters were laughing.

It is possible they were spurred on by campaign staff, who were trying to cover up the alarming gaffe. Or, these Democrats are so committed to ignoring Biden’s possible cognitive decline, that they don’t even notice it anymore.

Regardless of the reason, it seems like Democrats will not acknowledge the signs of Biden’s decline. We can’t state for certain what is wrong with the president, but few honest people will say he is totally fine. The gaffes and troubling moments keep piling up. For Democrats and the White House to ignore them is perhaps even more troubling.

Key Takeaways:

- Biden has a troubling moment during a speech at a brewery in Wisconsin.
- The president lost his train of thought and struggled to finish a sentence.
- The audience appeared to be laughing, seemingly unconcerned for the man’s well-being.
- This is one of many moments in recent years, where Biden’s showed signs of cognitive decline.