

Liberal ‘View’ Hosts Demand Illegals Flooding Streets of New York be Resettled Elsewhere

The co-hosts of ‘The View’ apparently are no longer towing the Democratic party line when it comes to immigration.

Before Joy Behar attributed illegal immigration to global warming and climate change, the co-hosts of “The View” declared that illegal immigrants ought to be “resettled elsewhere,” both internationally and within the United States.

“This is not a federal problem. This is not an American problem. This is a regional problem. This is a world problem. What we need is legislation. We need cooperation with other countries... so not everybody comes to the United States.” co-host Ana Navarro said.

“They [migrants] need to spread out. We have this massive country.” Sarah Haines replied.

“And it’s only gonna get worse with global warming and climate change because people can’t live in certain parts of this world,” co-host Joy Behar declared.

The hosts of the ABC daytime talk show were addressing recent remarks from Democratic New York City Mayor Eric Adams when he warned that the illegal immigration situation will ruin the city after earlier praising it as a sanctuary city during the Friday broadcast.

Behar asked the panel if Adams was ultimately right.

The mayor of New York City recently warned during a town hall meeting that the Democrat-controlled city was in danger of being destroyed and that resources were being depleted by the influx of illegal immigrants.

“It’s gonna come to your neighborhoods. All of us are going to be impacted by this. I said it last year when we had 15,000. I’m telling you now with 110,000. The city we knew, we’re about to lose.” Adams said.
