

OCTOBER 28, 2021

BY STEVEN HAYWARD

IN BIDEN ADMINISTRATION, SOCIALISM

MOVE OVER JULIA—HERE COMES LINDA!

Anyone remember the Obama Administration’s lugubrious “Life of Julia” slide show video, promoting their cradle-to-grave socialist vision for a single American woman? It seems to have been scrubbed from the internet, but my favorite part was the segment where Julia “decided to have a child,” with no mention then or after of a thing called a “father.” It seemed to be spontaneous procreation!

Well, now the Biden Administration has come out with the “Life of Linda,” showing us how great Linda’s life will be if we pass the Build Back Better plan. You have to see it, not to believe it (the wind turbine slide is my favorite):

Linda is a working mother in Peoria, Illinois. She works at a local manufacturing facility as a production worker and earns $40,000 per year. She is pregnant with her son, Leo.

Once Leo is born, Linda begins receiving Child Tax Credits of $300 per month ($3600 annually) to help cover essential costs like groceries, rent, and medicine.

As Leo grows up, the government helps cover the costs for his day care, guaranteeing that Linda doesn't need to pay more than 7 percent of her income on child care.

When Leo turns 3, he attends a high-quality Pre-K program for free.

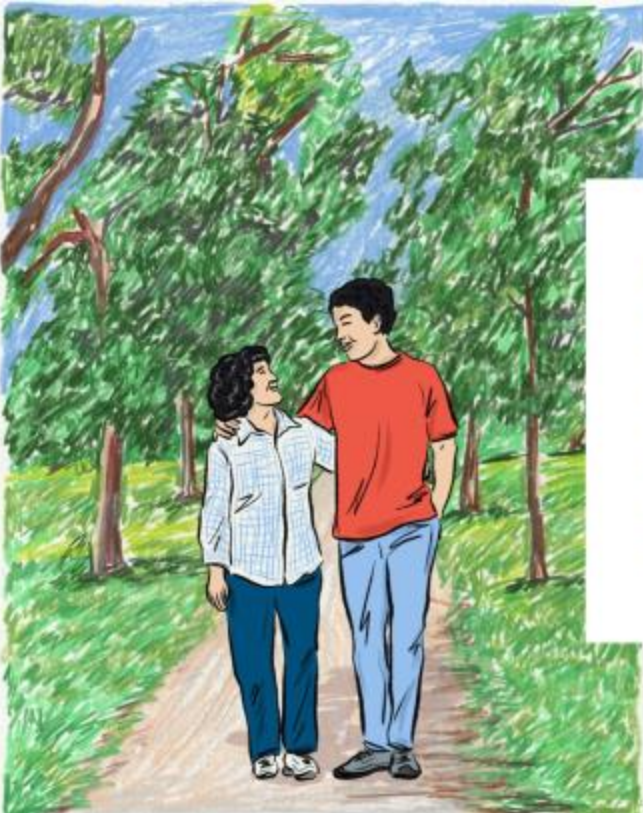

When Leo leaves high school, he's able to enroll in a community college, thanks to extended Pell Grants and investments in community colleges.

Thanks to his community college training, Leo lands a good-paying, union job as a wind turbine technician. Leo's job is one of four million new jobs a year that are supported by President Biden's economic plan.

Later in life, Linda needs home care and hearing care. Thanks to President Biden's plan, Linda can access affordable hearing care through Medicare, and Leo is able to afford at home elder care for his mom.