

Thought you would like this info on the logistics problem on the west coast.

62 ships with countless containers full of junk, mostly from China still unable to port and unload. The government and media say it's because of the "epic" buying power of the US citizens prepping for the holidays. BS.

Californian officials are blaming labor shortages and trucking shortages. BS.

Here's some facts from the trucking industry:

The NEWS says the California port situation is caused by a driver shortage.

Not so fast: It is in part caused by a California Truck Ban which says all trucks must be 2011 or newer and a law called AB 5 which prohibits Owner Operators.

Traditionally the ports have been served by Owner Operators (non-union). California has now banned Owner Operators.

Long term truckers in California are not investing in new trucks because California has a law that makes them illegal in 2035. The requirement is to purchase electric trucks ... which DO NOT EXIST!

In the words of Paul Harvey, "Now you know the rest of the story."
