President Trump responded to the Democrats far left demands they are pushing to be included in the coronavirus stimulus package by telling them that he or any other Republican will ever approve of them.

According to The Daily Wire:

President Donald Trump put his foot down on Democrats’ attempts to advance their leftist political agenda by hijacking the coronavirus relief bill and filling it with partisan demands that are not related to the coronavirus crisis.

Republicans had a deal until Nancy Pelosi rode into town from her extended vacation. The Democrats want the Virus to win? They are asking for things that have nothing to do with our great workers or companies. They want Open Borders & Green New Deal. Republicans shouldn’t agree!

About an hour later, Trump quote retweeted an article from National Review that was titled: “Congressional Democrats Add Last-Minute Ideological Demands to Coronavirus Relief Package”

Trump wrote: “This will never be approved by me, or any other Republican!” Numerous publications have correctly placed the blame on the Democrats for stalling the process for getting suffering American families the relief that they need to make it financially as companies have been forced to shut down as a result of the coronavirus, which originated in China.

Democrats have been using this crisis to push their far-left political agenda at the cost of millions of Americans, and it appears President Trump has had enough.
